

SERVAIR receives 6 "Eco-Friendly Action" certificates awarded by ADP (Paris Airports) and the ADEME (French Environmental and Energy Management Agency).

Servair and its subsidiaries, responsive to environmental concerns, have been rewarded for the exemplary actions taken in their production centres and head office.

Roissy, 2 May 2011 – SERVAIR, the leader in France and the world's 3rd largest specialist in catering and air transport logistics services, has been awarded 6 "Eco-Friendly Action" certificates by ADP and the ADEME during the 2011 Sustainable Development Week. SERVAIR also obtained a special jury prize for all of the measures taken and certificates conferred illustrating their actively pro-environmental policy.

Aéroports de Paris and the ADEME award these certificates to their suppliers and partners who work towards restricting their impact on the environment. Each year, SERVAIR and its subsidiaries present several eco-friendly actions taken in its production centres or at its head office, concerning, for example, water conservation or improvements in waste management.

This year, SERVAIR and its subsidiaries obtained 6 "Eco-Friendly Action" certificates for the following initiatives:

- Improved water management by OAT
- The snow plough/gritter by Acna CDG
- Recycling out-of-order products by Logair
- Electric aerial platforms by Passerelle CDG
- Wastewater pre-treatment station by Servair 2
- Improvement in waste management by Servair Head Office

These measures were all awarded "Eco-Friendly Action" certificates, in recognition of their promising future and direct contribution to reducing the company's impact on the environment.
